

Reference for Maggie Saunders

Maggie is an extremely talented actor and facilitator - it has been a privilege to work by her side over the last 10 years.

Maggie has worked with me on numerous training and development programmes, across a wide variety of organisations, each time demonstrating a real understanding of their specific culture. This, with her gift for quickly absorbing detailed information about people's situations and needs, earns her the greatest respect from clients

Participants consistently report how 'safe' they feel to test out new skills and behaviours with Maggie. I believe that her strong intuition, together with genuine empathy and sensitivity to the position of others, enables Maggie to respond with the greatest of realism to any given role play situation. It is this, plus her skilled facilitation and 'in the moment' feedback, that allows participants' confidence to soar.
